

The Table of Contents

Vol. 2, Issue 1

September 2023

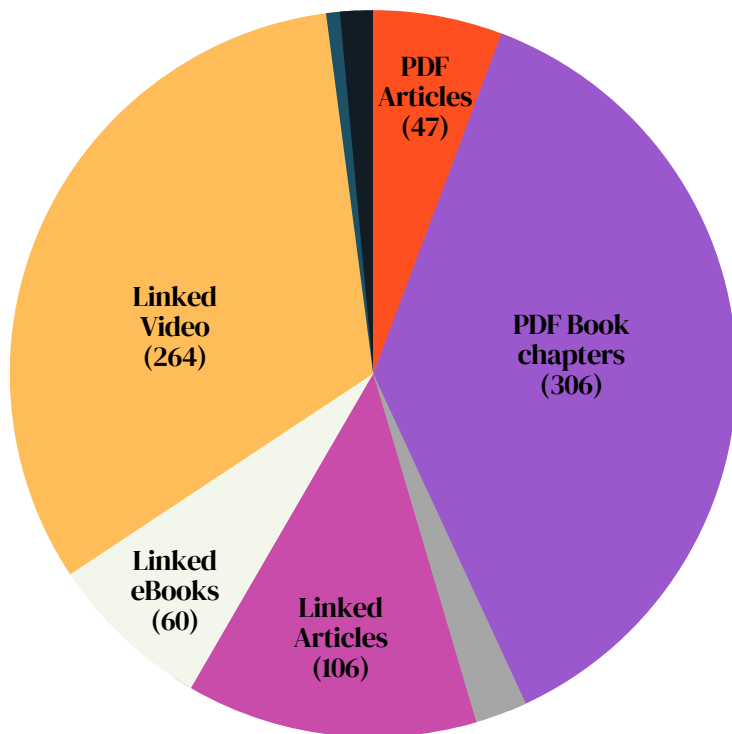

Reserves / BrowZine

The Dean's Preface

A note from Dean of the Libraries, Brooke Cox

It is our first fall term in the renovated Roy O. West Library and our first since 2019 (thanks, COVID!). We are thrilled to see new faces and welcome back those we've known for years. We invite you to find your spot(s) in the library, encourage you to stop at Café Roy, and hope you'll connect with library, TLC, Tenzer, or FITS folks while you're here. Let us know how the Libraries can support teaching and learning this semester, our email is always on: library@depauw.edu

Types of E-reserves in Spring 2023

Other types of reserves sources:

PDF Instructor Upload: 19
 Controlled Digital Lending: 5
 Word/PowerPoint File: 12

Tool Time:

BrowZine

Browse scholarly journals available from the DePauw Libraries on your tablet device, iPhone, or via the Web using BrowZine.

- Keep up to date on current research in your discipline
- Get an overview of current research available in scholarly journals
- Enjoy streamlined access to scholarly journals on a mobile device.

Total E-reserves in Spring 2023

814

Throughout the pandemic and renovation, we transitioned our reserves to be all electronic, allowing for the greatest equity of access for our students. The total number is representative of 47 total courses NOT including digital items hosted by the Music Library who previously managed all media reserves- wowza!

Library Student Highlight

The DePauw Libraries employs approximately 40+ students each semester to help maintain and staff the university libraries. These students work hard to keep the stacks clean, the service desks helpful, and numerous other tasks and responsibilities. Of note already this Fall our students created a new way to report space usage (it has real-time graphs!), organized our physical reserves spaces, and continue to keep up with re-shelving items throughout the libraries at DePauw. This space each month will highlight the individual student workers and the projects they work on while at TheDesk and in the Music Library!